In Nov 2021, we published one of the largest, longest, peer reviewed studies in heart digital health

Professor Alexis Beatty,
UCSF Cardiologist led the study

"The level of engagement is something I have not seen in other digital hypertension management programs. Sustained engagement and these levels of decreases in systolic blood pressure could reduce a person's chances of heart attack, stroke, kidney disease, and death."

Key study findings:

84%

Of users in Hypertension stage 2 group improved their BP within the first year

21 mmHg

systolic BP reduction over 3 years for users in in hypertension stage 2 group

28,189

Overall study participants over the course of 3 years
