WELCOME TO THE CREATIVE CLASS

MEET THE FOUNDER

An Authentic Advocate of Cannabis for Creativity

SHAWN GOLD

Until recently, founder, Shawn Gold was CMO at Lowell Herb Co., one of the fastest-growing, most talked about cannabis companies in North America. He has been an advisor to other leading cannabis brands including MedMen and Charlottes Web. Previous to Lowell, he was CMO at TechStyle Fashion Group which launched the subscription fashion category with Fabletics, JustFab, ShoeDazzle, and Rihanna's SavageXFenty. Before TechStyle he was head of entertainment brand partnerships at Wattpad.com, the world's largest storytelling platform and one of the fastest-growing mobile content sites in the world. Previously he oversaw sales, marketing, and content development as CMO of Inside Studios, a video and mobile app company creating shows with over 1 billion views on YouTube and MSN. Until 2007, he was CMO, head of marketing & content for MySpace. At MySpace, Shawn spearheaded the development and implementation of marketing initiatives and campaigns for MySpace during its growth from 25 to 110 million users worldwide. Prior to MySpace, he was a partner and the founding publisher of Weblogs, Inc., a network of popular blogs that included Engadget, Joystiq, and Autoblog, now part of Verizon. As head of communications planning for Rare Medium, Shawn helped launch digital communications strategies for brands at P&G, General Mills, Nestle, Mattel, and other international brand marketing companies.

THE OPPORTUNITY

A purpose driven recreational brand that is the category king in cannabis
for creativity.

$5.8M in Revenue in first 15 Months

250,000 Database of Creative cannabis users.

WHY NOW?

70-80% of cannabis sales today are influenced by budtenders inside of dispensaries who recommend products.

The fastest scaling brands are built around efficacy. They enhance performance or provide a solution based story to connect buyers with brands.

There is no brand today that stands specifically for "creativity", yet 30% of Americans make a living by being creative.

HOW CANNABIS ENHANCES CREATIVITY

The Practical Application of Cannabis for Creativity

HOW CANNABIS ENHANCES CREATIVE THINKING

Enhanced Imagination

Cannabis creates an enhanced ability for imagination; chefs have reported how they can better imagine the taste of combinations of food during a high, and musicians describe an enhanced ability to imagine melodies played by various instruments.

Hyper Focus

A fundamental effect of cannabis is hyper focus of attention and an intense perception of the here-and-now. You do not look at an object anymore under pragmatic aspects but start to explore its colors, surfaces, shades under a different perspective, like an artist or a scientist scrutinizing its nature.

Empathetic Understanding

Cannabis users often experience an enhancement of their empathic skills during a high, like a writer feeling they are better able to slip into another personality and to creatively write fiction involving the feelings of various characters.

Pattern Recognition

Suddenly, it enhances our ability to extract similarities and draw conclusions about the relationships between seemingly unrelated concepts, objects, processes, or patterns, which are crucial for the invention of new ideas. Einstein called it "Combinatory play" - sifting through data, perceptions and materials to come up with combinations that are new and useful.

PILGRIM SOUL: CANNABIS SCIENCE

Together with the scientists at AbstraxTech, we have analyzed hundreds of cannabis strains that index high for creativity and other related states.

We have identified specific cannabinoid and terpene profiles, building a matrix of strains that we blend for specific creative impact.

This is supported by focus groups and feedback from iconic creative leaders.
